

Abstract of the Disclosure

The present invention relates to a flexible pouch that is sealed on the sides to provide a space therein for a product. On one end of the pouch may be a recloseable
5 feature. A patterned score line may be provided on an end of the pouch for removing a sheath disposed over the recloseable feature thereby exposing the recloseable feature. The pouch may be utilized for the storage of food products, such as cheese.